to use be plus doing correctly. I especially want to improve translation and short writing. When I write a sentence, I check the subject first, then the tense, and finally the verb form.

16. 80词写作参考 : Learning depends on daily practice. I am practicing English every day, and my vocabulary is increasing slowly. Good progress does not depend on luck. It depends on small habits, especially reading, translating, and writing sentences. I discovered that grammar becomes clearer when I use it in real sentences. Now I am trying to check the subject first and then choose the correct verb form. This method helps me write more carefully.
